With a foundation of vocals and acoustic guitar from Lacy Thompson and Bob Lamb on guitar, bass, banjo, and harmonica (depending on the song and where it feels like going), Cedar Belly plays music that feels familiar enough to "get" right away but that has enough hook to bring you back for more. Cedar Belly's music is for people who - know that a sad song can bring a joyful feeling - love the sound of an acoustic guitar - like it when the alto sings - like it when the songwriter sings - want to hear music written for its own sake (not to please a specific demographic or fit a certain profile) We love music; we hope you'll like ours.
