Details: Domenic Di Cello - has been studying music, since the age of five. Formal private classical-piano lessons were given to him at the age of nine. He was also given additional instruction by his father who is classically trained on guitar, with emphasis on chord structure, theory, and scale-work. Domenic placed first in a music competition in Milwaukee, and received a scholarship to study Jazz and Blues piano.

Domenic's passion has been with classical, and he developed a performance of Fredric Chopin, and his own compositions. He also studies Beethoven, Schumann, Mozart and Bach; and plans to incorporate those composers into his live program as well. His latest instructor, Gail Karrer, received her Masters Degree from the esteemed Vienna Conservatory in Austria, and was who advised Domenic to begin teaching students formally. Domenic currently teaches piano in Albuquerque, New Mexico. His "Out of Castles" CD features his own compositions.
