Details: Willie Wilson, Chicago philanthropist and successful entrepreneur is the founder and Chief Executive Officer of four very successful companies: Omar Medical Supplies, Willie Wilson Productions, and recently sold Kenya Incorporated. According to society, Willie Wilson was born a underprivileged African American child with no hope for the future but God has shown the world that: "Society and it's circumstances does not determine one's future." Wilson took God's Word over man's words and became a very wise man. Through wisdom, he entered into the land of more than enough! After working many years in McDonald's Restaurants, Mr. Wilson received several awards including the Outstanding Store Award and Top Sales Performer Award for his hard work. He later became an owner operator of several McDonald's Franchise. He is the recipient of Doctoral Divinity from Mt. Carmel Theological Seminary, A Doctor of Humane Letters from Chicago Baptist Institute, Honorary Doctorate in Humanitarism from Swisher Bible College and Doctorate in Humanitarism from Denver Institute of Urban Studies and Adult College. In 1987, he founded Willie Wilson Productions: a television productions company where he produced the first nationally syndicated Gospel Entertainment Show ever seen on network television! The show, "Singsation" is seen today in over 40 million homes around the world. After singing with the legendary Norfleet Brothers, Mr. Wilson produced four recordings: I'm So Grateful, Lord Don't Let Me Fail, Just A Closer Walk With Thee and I'll Fly Away. His latest, I'll Fly Away is distributed by Universal and is available in stores throughout the United States. By the end of 1997, Wilson still a mover and shaker, founded Omar Medical Supplies and Gemini Electronics. Both companies are successful and through these companies, many needy individuals are supported. He gives generously to Churches and countless underprivileged neighbourhoods.
