ELECTRONIC: Ambient, ELECTRONIC: Down Tempo Details: Welcome to a trip known as Gridstation. A trek towards the unknown to an ambient/abstract musical destination. Convoluted atmospheres with ambient overtones make up the sounds of GridStation. Rhythms are indeed present with various instruments and synthesizers used to create them. Gridstation created this abstract project for "experimental...yet internuncial music." Sonic textures are everywhere...but cohesive structure is prevalent. Headphones are recommended. Plug in....and bring along your favorite medication. For soundclips of all songs as well as more information go to gridstation.net Jaguar of Integrated Arts writes: "A reminder to those who believe we are at the center of the Universe, GridStation proves otherwise, by positioning our sonic foundry closer to the outer reaches of the Nebulas. Way beyond the silly smattering of stars we call the Milky Way." David Opdyke of ambientrancenwrites: "The nightskies above Nashville come alight with glowing new celestial lightshows for your ears. Industrial essences are buried in the deep drum-and-drone of Hysteron Proteron, though a sleek sensuality dominates. Nicely done spacemusic never gets too aggressive" Big props go out to the following: Samplitude 2496 v7.1 XM Radio CDBaby Solar Fields Automatic Serene Gun Skittles Lorcets
