Electro-pop-rock with introspective (sometimes humorous) lyrics, a hypnotically seductive voice and edgy guitars. Sayjing Rand will win you over with its soulfulness and honesty. 12 MP3 Songs POP: with Electronic Production, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: Staarfinger Presents...A compelling new artist with a refreshingly distinctive voice: SAYJING RAND The self-titled debut album... Although here you will find many of the electronic beats often associated with clubbing (particularly in the chill-out rooms), in SAYJING RAND's world they play second fiddle to the meat and potatoes of the CD, namely RAND'S confessional poetry set against his multilayered, seductive vocals. Sometimes reminiscent of Moby, Seal or Depeche Mode (that blast from the past), RAND has found a rather unique vehicle for his introspective, tantalizing (and sometimes humorous) lyrics in the hook-laden neo-electronica and edgy guitars that punctuate his first effort like distant drums. Often deeply spiritual - sometimes mysterious - the lyrics cover a wide range of topics from disenchantment to soulful yearning to thoughts on a distant father figure. The Album begins and ends with "Confess, Confess," which is no less than an exhortation to strip away much of the ordinary and mundane from our lives, much as this CD strips away much of the commonplace that we have come to take for granted from pop radio and even so called alternative musical venues. What you will hear on this CD is truly original and, though RAND'S quiet, hypnotic voice may require a little getting used to, it will win you over with its soulfulness and honesty. Indeed, it is the honesty of the lyrics and the vocals that really make this CD stand apart from the crowd. Whether the message is brooding (as it often is) or uplifting (which it aspires to), it is always deeply personal. SAYJING RAND defies labels and current Top-40 fare, but if you're interested in hearing what a fresh new artist has to say in his own unique way, this CD is the perfect choice for you.
