Details: Trosnant is the bands first album with their new singer/fiddle player Meriel Field and, for the first time, there are songs on an Allan Yn Y Fan release! Meriel Field, originally from North Wales, has also persuaded the rest of the band to sing and there are some notable harmony vocals from Linda Simmonds and Kate Strudwick on songs such as Si Hei Lwli Mabi, Moliannwn and an especially tender version of a traditional Welsh song known far beyond our borders :- Ar Hyd Y Nos, which breaks new ground for Allan Yn Y Fan by featuring an exquisite arrangement for string quartet. Allan Yn Y Fan has not deserted the instrumental tradition with this album though the band are heard at full throttle on Tressle Bridge/Tenpenny Bit/Thunderhead and a quirky version of two English tunes :- Abbots Bromley Horn Dance Tune/Jump at the Sun. Critical acclaim for the bands earlier releases was forthcoming for the quality of the bands own compositions and Trosnant features some great originals by accordionist Chris Jones (Castell Thomas + Madam Mayor + Ms. Gina Morgan), whilst flautist Kate Strudwick, inspired by our rehearsal location for the album, has composed the title track :- Trosnant - the awesome beauty of the Brecon Beacons encapsulated in a four minute soundscape! Gems from the Welsh traditional canon are not overlooked :- Abergenni is from the unusual Welsh stately/courtly realm whilst the album opens with Pibddawns Gwyr / Y Gelynnen. Trosnant features twelve tracks and marks the further development of a band maturing into one of Wales finest musical exports and consolidating its reputation as Wales best Celtic band of the 21st century.
