A unique association between Violin and Harp, in the shadow of the Paris National Opera, for an extraordinary wonderful trip, intensively nostalgic and passionate. 6 MP3 Songs CLASSICAL: Contemporary, CLASSICAL: Traditional Details: Once upon a time Paris, the city of lights, their hometown Once upon a time the Paris National Opera, their support in this project Once upon a time the unusual union between Violin and Harp, two instruments rarely put together. A common love for music and beautiful stories is the strong base of what links Dominique Piussan (Harp) and Arnaud Nuvolone (Violin). The two musicians graduated from the biggest world music schools, after years spent by the most famous international soloists, Marie-Claire Jamet, Christian Lard, Christian Ferras or Ivry Gitlis. Everywhere in Europe and Japan, they promote with an indefinable grace and impressive technique the musical French values. They now give them a new mean of expression in this telling, full of passion and nostalgia, in which the soul of all people is the color palette that nourishes our imagination. From Buenos Aires to Sevilla, from the Hebraic Poland to the Paris Belle Epoque, Dominique Piussan and Arnaud Nuvolone are taking us with them into these far countries they keep travelling through. Once upon a time The wish to provide the listener with a unique and complete new emotion.
