Live performances often consist of three full sets of two-steppin' country twang, followed by a Yuengling fueled set of 80s power ballads. These eclectic performances feature high energy delivery and direct crowd interaction as the Beagle Brothers incorporate numerous sing-along hits from the underground of the American country catalog. The Beagle Brothers play a wide variety of classic country covers Faron Young, Hank Williams, David Allan Coe as well as many contemporary songs from the underground of American country music: Wayne Hancock, Hank Williams III, Robbie Fulks, BR5-49, etc. But the most noteworthy musical aspect of the Beagle Brothers is the strength of band's original country songs. Following the long history of traditional country western music, original Beagle Brothers songs integrate thoughtful and clever lyrics about drinking, heartache, gambling, Satan, etc. with upbeat, guitar driven melodies. A Beagle Brothers set offers the perfect balance of covers and originals and is delivered with an intense amount of energy that is sure to get the dance floor hopping.
