Jenny has published two of her own original albums "In The Mood of ... Dreams" and "Love Is Blind" and they are currently selling in HMV and many other music stores in Hong Kong, Macau as well as internationally on the internet. She has also produced albums for other local artist, as well as background music for TV commercials and corporate videos including Standard Chartered Bank and the Jockey Club and so on. In addition, her music is also widely used as mobile ring tones and hello tones, as well as background music for mobile phone games in many different operators in many different countries in the world. In addition to expanding her musical development, Jenny has also taken up the challenge of communicating with her audience through words and pictures, for the very good cause of charity. Based on her current album "Love Is Blind", Jenny has written a unique chapter for each individual track, together with a vivid picture illustrated by her brother Ronny. Part of the proceeds will go to Orbis. Right, just looking at the title of her book, helping the blind seems to be the most natural consequence. "Love Is Blind" is composed of 16 chapters each with its own unique and independent theme based on the title and the music of its specific track. Reading the book while listening to the album is strongly recommended. A reconnection to your feelings and your emotions...
