Junkie for Fire tells the story of a girl in New York City... It's an Indie gem and a creative triumph. 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Emo, POP: Folky Pop Details: 'Junkie for Fire' was recorded during the summer of 2004 in New York City. During the weekdays, producer Chris Wei's East Village living room was transformed into a creative sanctuary. Caring mostly about capturing the moment, Jude and Chris stayed clear of the temptatations of overdubbing. Most of the tracks are one takes, if not the first. This record is as true to it's parts as any you've heard. You can feel the summer heat and the pulse of New York City in every track. 'Junkie for Fire' is a real indie record that shines above the rest. Jude Kastle Jude Kastle's music career began in her father's church in Georgia. Two weeks out of high school Jude moved to New York City on her own to attend the American Music and Dramatic Academy (AMDA). Soon after arriving, Jude was recruited by a reggae band singing backup and playing percussion. This band was the catalyst that put a guitar in her hands. Jude started working out her own songs as soon as the first 3 chords were learned and in a matter of a year she played her first show at the legendary caf Sine. She found her home there in the East Village and continued playing shows, finding her footing on stage. Since then, Jude has released two records on her own Kastle Records ("Ghost of a Girl" and "Junkie for Fire") and is currently touring the US, relentlessly working the college market. In 2004 Jude was asked to open for Grammy winner Phil Vassar in Virginia and won a Flagstaff Music Award for the music she wrote for a PSA. You can keep up to date with Jude's shows and news through her website judekastle. "Jude Kastle is a rare pure streak of joy. I pitty the fool who doesn't see the artist now."
