Details: Angelica was born July 30, 1987 at West Pace's Ferry Hospital in Atlanta, GA and grew up in the Atlanta area. Her father is the owner of Haywood's Recording Studios (legendary) in Atlanta, so Angelica was surrounded by quality music as she was growing up, with many differences and many categories of style. She has sung for professional sports teams, the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, the Trumpet awards, the Auburn Festival, and the Festival of the Trees. She has performed at the Bell Ringing Celebration of the M. L. King Center, for the Lee Harper Dancers, and at many other occasions. She is a highly sought after songwriter and lyricist by some of the biggest hip-hop producers presently. In the 'Song of Life', however, she is branching out into other genres. We have completed an album called "I Spread My Wings..." in which the 'Song of Life' features as one of the songs. The 6 R&B songs included in this new package will be part of Angelica's 2nd CD which will be mostly in an Urban R&B style, but also with songs crossing over into other genres. Tags: pop
