Nods to such fusion artists as Mahavishnu, John McLaughlin, Larry Coryell, electric-era Miles Davis and early Weather Report meet influences from avante rockers including Frank Zappa, King Crimson and Primus. 7 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Fusion, JAZZ: Acid Jazz Details: Hailing from small-town Ohio, drummer Robin Dean brings a rare light to Chicago's jazz and fusion scene. With his original composition, Dean presents a familiar improvisational platform with a unique vigor. Fine-tuned orchestrations, unbound improvisation and an adventurous approach to musical communication are all part of Dean's distinctive feel. A Jazz and Studio Performance graduate of the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music, Dean's repertoire hints of influences from a variety of composers and genres. Intrepid percussion, funky bass lines, keyboard psychedelics and consistent guitar technique nod to the popular works of Miles Davis, Weather Report and John McLaughlin. Rockers Frank Zappa, King Crimson and Primus are entitled to Dean's avante respects. Dean's band delivers a knockout punch of harmonic reason. Dean's band draws from a rotating pool of talented players. Guitarist Moto Makino (Sugar Blue) delivers an extraordinarily virtuous sound. Eric Levy (Fareed Haque, MVP, Garaj Mahal) opens limitless harmonic doorways on keyboards. Chris Clemente's (Kick the Cat, Amazing Headgear) bass shows no mercy, careening listeners toward the dance floor. Novelty and proficiency produce Dean's percussive power on drums. Their talents meld to produce an elaborate and pristine tonal palette. Dean's efforts have produced collaborative support among musicians with well-established and fruitful careers. Dean has opened for major artists including Victor Wooten, Charlie Hunter, Stanley Jordan, The Aquarium Rescue Unit, Billy Cobham and Jazz is Dead, Big Ass Truck and Colonel Bruce Hampton. The band has performed in Columbus, Cincinnati and Chicago clubs including Quenchers, The Mutiny, Rooster Blues, Elbo Room and Ripley's Alive. A lively artistic presence, active networking and organized commercial appeal represent the methods by which Robin Dean is making a name for himself. His inebriating composition easily fits any club environment. At the forefront of Chicago's independent music scene, Dean's connections will catalyze a club's promotional success. For more information about Robin Dean and his music, visit RobinDeantoday!
