He released his first recording, A New Journey, when he was just 17 years old. While attending college, he decided he wanted to start his own studio. Subsequently, he decided the first CD he wanted to work on after it was set up was a Christmas album. Christmas is my favorite time of year, mostly because of all the music. My entire family is very talented, so the music we share together is the one thing I remember most each year. After spending a year shopping for equipment, he was finally ready to start working on the album. I had a lot of fun with this project. I wanted to take the familiar melodies we all love and turn them into original compositions. The result is a group of arrangements that are genuinely unique and easy to listen to. This recording also introduces a couple of Jeremys new toys the Irish whistle and the djembe (an African drum, pronounced jem-bay) giving the arrangements an added freshness. You wont regret making this a part of your collection. Jeremy is currently engineering and producing in his studio as well as continuing to work on his own music.
