Details: Every human spirit is eclectic, unique, and colorful. Alisa Ohri delivers a self-penned song book about what it feels like to be human. Her refreshing blend of R&B, Soul, and Jazz is as necessary as air! Alisas tone is rich, haunting, and uplifting. When you breathe in her voice and her lyrics, youll feel like she wrote about you. Shell have you laughing and just-plain-celebrating being ordinary! What better place to experience life than in Manhattan? Based in New York City a place where ordinary folks come to work out extraordinary dreams, Alisa thrives upon being a full-time musician! When asked to explain You see, its like belonging to this incredible club! Its not exclusive in any way! In fact your only requirement is to say yes to your dreams. This crazy recognition thing happens when you bump into fellow New York City artists. You get this kind of glint in your eyes. You give each other that nod of understanding and you silently say to each other: Were doing it! Were really doing it! And then you smile and say: Have a great gig! Regardless of the musical situation, Alisa Ohri never misses the chance to deliver. Whether shes in a Rock group with Stephan Jenkins (Third Eye Blind), opening up for Roy Ayers, collaborating with world renowned R&B/Funk bassist Hubert Eaves IV , singing and writing a Wendys Jingle, or settin' New York Citys Zinc Bar on fire with much-acclaimed Jazz Guitarist Ron Affif, - Alisa Ohri delivers her vocals with a punch that leaves you asking for more! Called by some the Millenniums answer to Sade and Roberta Flack with sass - spiced up with the retro nostalgia of Ella Fitzgerald - Alisas vocal knock out to the soul just plain feels good!
