Hard hitting progressive rock mixed with funk, pop, and other styles, that kicks you in the bum then pats you on the shoulder to ease your pain. 11 MP3 Songs ROCK: Hard Rock, POP: Power Pop Details: Take part rock, part funk, add in some pop and techno, and what's the end result? - Boston's multi-styled and distinctive Blue Moon Harem. They've created a unique sound, covering different genres of rock, which has become their trademark. Blue Moon Harem was formed by singer/songwriter Bix and guitarist Demetri in 1999. After deciding to take a different approach to recording, they procured the services of well respected producer Jim Siegel; as well as, the talents of drummer Lex Lianos, and bass player Paul Bryan (Paula Cole, Katie Curtis, and Amiee Mann). The outcome is the 11 song self titled Blue Moon Harem. This powerful CD is diverse and fun, basic yet complex, and is appealing to, and has received a very positive response from, a wide ranging audience. The CD kicks off with the pulsing rock tune Addiction which has received airplay on WAAF's local music show in Boston, on which the band has also performed live. Addiction, along with Ride and Dog's Life, has been praised in reviews leading to spots as a featured "song of the day" on Garageband.com's home page. The songs Addiction and Dog's Life are featured in the independent movie Under Surveillance from New York based Fourth Horizon Cinema, and the band's entire CD is featured in the film The Les McGuire Interview from Chicago based Sorry Dog Films. Blue Moon Harem's current lineup is: Bix on vocals; Demetri on guitars; Cafunko on drums and percussion; and Jack on the bass. BMH is supporting their release with live performances throughout the New England and New York areas.
