Praise and worship Live from Philadelphia Pa 14 MP3 Songs GOSPEL: Contemporary Gospel, GOSPEL: Traditional Gospel Details: Lorraine Boisseau has showcased her talents through singing, and acting, from an early age. She began singing and directing the choir as a youth at Pentecostal Bridegroom Church in South Philadelphia located on 8th Lombard Street. She was always leading songs and acting in the church plays following in her mothers footsteps, Patricia Henry. Her ability to act and sing followed her throughout her school years from elementary school through high school as she was always called upon to lead songs on the various choirs she was apart of as well as the outside choirs like Singing City, All City Choirs, and many others and was given major roles in the various plays that she performed in. Over the years, she has performed for the Mayor and other City Officials events. For several years she has performed at the Gallery in Philadelphia, PA., at the Capitol in Washington DC. and at The Academy of Music as well as performed on television shows. Lorraine Boisseau attended the High School for the Creative and Performing Arts where her major was vocal music. While she was there she song, Opera, Classical, and Jazz but something was missing due to her background in Gospel Music. One day she got a group of singers together and taught them a gospel song and during one of their music classes, she asked her music teacher if she could present something to him and the class. They sung their 1st gospel song and from that point on, she formed the first Gospel Choir in the history of the Performing Arts High School in Philadelphia, PA. The Gospel Choir received more engagements than their concert choir. What a major accomplishment. Lorraine Boisseau holds such Titles such as Conference Host, Television Host, Choir Directress, Songwriter, Playwright, Recording Artist and a Natural Born Actress. She has starred in several plays at the Merriam Theater in Philadelphia, PA., at the Keswick Theater in Glenside, PA., at the Grand Opera House and at The Baby Grand in Wilmington, DE., The Wilmington Drama League in

Wilmington, DE., also at the Community College Auditorium in Philadelphia, PA. She has written several plays that have been performed at some of the mentioned theaters and often writes and performs skits at her local church, New Destiny Fellowship in Wilmington, DE. Lorraine Boisseau is currently working on the release of her 1st live Praise Worship CD Recording which was took place on Friday, March 4, 2005 at the Deliverance Evangelistic Church located at 22nd Lehigh Ave in Philadelphia, PA. That night was truly an Intimate time in His presence. She is co-producing the project and has written all of the songs on the CD and her daughter Richell is a co-writer for Yet Will I Praise You. The CD titled, Lorraine Boisseau will be released at the end of May 2006. Lorraine Boisseau is a gifted song writer. She has written over 50 songs and her Publishing Co. Name registered under BMI is LaChellFaNiesh Music which is a combination of her and her daughters names. In the year of 2002, she submitted her 1st song to the Commonwealth (C.O.G.I.C.) Recording Choir for their recording and they recorded Worthy to Be Praised. She has been a lead soloist on two of their recordings as well as lead vocalist on recordings for The Wilmington Chester Mass Choir, Tony Fields New Testament, Darryl Henry Judah, and The Miracle Man, The Reverend Clayton Johnson. Lorraine Boisseau has appeared on the Bobby Jones Gospel Show, BET, Rejoice TV Show in Maryland, WJJT TV Channel 7 in Philadelphia, She has performed several times on Reachout Telecast in Wilmington, DE. and has performed for many shows on Channel 28 in Wilmington, DE. Last year she appeared on the Bro. Steve TV show in Beverly Hills, California. Some of the other activities and platforms that Lorraine Boisseau has been a part of are: She is one of the lead vocalists for the Gospel Highway 11 theme song local Gospel Radio Stations in Philadelphia. She has done numerous radio interviews in and out of the city. She has a special rendition of the National Anthem that she re-arranged and has performed it with her group for ESPN sports channel and for Comcast Cable as well as performed at the Blue Horizon on Broad St. for a major fight. She has sung background and shared the mic with Patti Label at the Merriam Theater with the song titled When youve been blessed, Fills like Heaven. She has performed on stage with the late Rev. James Moore, Douglas Miller, Edwin Hawkins, Reverend John P. Kee, Pastor Donnie McClurkin in London England, The Mighty Aires, Rizen, Shirley Caesar, Zak Williams 1 Akord and many others. Lorraine Boisseau is often invited to open up in Praise Worship or as the Sermonic selection at major conferences for some of our prominent preachers like, Bishop Thomas W. Weeks, Sr., Bishop T.D. Jakes, Bishop Noel Jones, Prophetess Juanita Bynum Weeks, Bishop Thomas Weeks III, Bishop George Bloomer, Pastor Jamal

Harrison Bryant, Dr. Cindy Trimm, Bishop Gilbert Coleman, Bishop Dennis Leonard, Bishop Davis G. Evans, Prophet Todd Hall, and a host of many others. In August 2005, Lorraine Boisseau had her 1st opportunity to be featured at the G.M.W.A. on the New Artist Showcase on Thursday Night. The Lord used her mightily on that night and many people complimented her on her presentation including Kirk Carr who had a conversation with her to commend her and encouraged her to stay faithful because of the anointing that he felt through her as she ministered in song. During that week, she was surprisingly called upon to open up in Praise Worship for one of the main divisions of the workshop. God used her in a mighty way as He made room for the gift that lies within her. Lorraine Boisseau states that there is no better place to be than in the presence of the Lord. Her greatest joy to give God praise and to worship Him. In January of 2006, a promoter had been given Lorraine Boisseaus Praise Worship Single which has three songs on it. After hearing her minister, He invited her to open the church tour at the Lia Couras Center in Philadelphia, PA. This had been one of her desires to open up a major show in her home town. God gave her the very desires of her heart and on the night of the show hosted by Ty Tribett, she shared the platform with, Hezekiah Walker, Mary Mary, Fred Hammond, Shirley Caesar and many others. She was no stranger to the Philadelphia audience as they gave her much support and respect as she ministered under the power of the Holy Spirit. What a mighty God we serve. Lorraine Boisseau is currently preparing for her upcoming CD release tour coming to a city near you in 2006. She is also being positioned to go into full time ministry. She will be starting a Fellowship towards the end of this year in the City of Philadelphia, called The Revival Center. The Revival Center will be a multi-purpose center for our youth and young adults and for the creative arts. It will also be a haven where the wounded can come to receive healing, the bound can come and be set free, the oppressed and the depressed can come to receive their deliverance and a place for the believers to come in to be revived again and again and again.
