About the Artist: Sinfonia Electronique is an international collective of European, Asian, and North American musicians who have again come together to interpret new musical works created by its members. Once more focusing on compositions by American musicians Richard Eppedio and C.R. Keyser-Posner, and featuring performances by a select group of kindred musical spirits from various stylistic backgrounds, Sinfonia Electronique continues to move forward while maintaining a backward gaze, ever mindful of those who have come before them and blazed an amazing trail of musical mastery, leaving a legacy these performers strive to keep alive in the twenty-first century.....and beyond. Description: Music from the Big Machines is the fourth release from Sinfonia Electronique. A new ten-song collection of abstract melodies, the album is industrially underscored by droning machine rhythms, culminating in an unexpectedly ambient blend of futurist sound. Interesting orchestral effects are used to advantage, voicing a strange yet satisfying science fiction-like quality to the compositions.
