_____ The Blue Planet is a collection of pieces that present a common thread of expression using lyrical songs as well as instrumentals. This expression of David's ability to create a mood or image with his words and music is another interesting extension of the over-used category for "folk" and "acoustic". Listening to this work you will again be able to travel both backwards and forwards through the history of popular music. A favorite entertainer on the San Mateo Coast south of San Francisco, David has been compared to John Prine, Townes Van Zandt, Bob Dylan, Guy Clark, Nick Drake and other powerful lyricists and songwriters.

_____ Here's what others have said about this David's style: "Brilliant. Essential...David Elias could sing the dictionary and we'd all be rapt in attention, hanging on each softly delivered syllable..." -- Raging Smolder Review "Hey, man...your review is posted on Indie-MusicI have to say, I loved it -- all of it..." -- e-mail from Les Reynolds, Indie-Musicreviewer "Whatever happens, promise that you'll play here forever..." - George Cattermole,
