Details: Beyond East is the latest album from artist Martin Case, chronicling a mans musical interactions with the people of the earth, how the world has changed him, and the importance of channeling multiple dialects into a cohesive, meaningful vision. Combining threads of ancient knowledge, gleaned from the Earth, and the people close to it; the result is a flavorful tapestry, almost dangerously woven with modern production standards. Rhythms from exotic Peru, oral tradition African melodies, and the colorful personalities of Martins Vermont sashay a lavish manifold that explores and reaffirms our collective unconscious. This is music as it was intended, intensely conductive yet vital to the exploration of our human community. Martin Case is a well-versed performer, composer, and multi-media/audio producer. Martins history of dance clients include The Bill T. Jones/Arnie Zane Dance Company, The Mark Morris Group, The Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, and the Paul Taylor Dance Company. In the Boston community, Martin helps in the creative work of Harvard University, MIT, Boston Conservatory, and the Boston Ballet. Martin has composed numerous film/television/dance scores, and produced over a dozen full-length albums, in his own recording studio and in others around the globe. He is presently operating MartinCaseMusic and Sandpaper Studios, a customized music composing/producing company, performing with his group MaAzin, and serving the global community though composition, production, and performance.
