Powerful, electronic sound beats, the beat of storms and lightning, passion at the beach during a light rain by a full moon, dance to the beat, and space traveling with frogs and water. 14 MP3 Songs

ELECTRONIC: Techno, ELECTRONIC: Dance Details: Nature is an amazing force. I sometimes like to imagine that I have capture the echo of nature's power, as well as it's tranquility, in my music. Welcome to Fetching Leah Fetching Leah is about love, meditation, imagination, dreams, and dance. Most of this artistic music starts simple, and then it gets more complex as the music continues. There are many perspectives I like to see the beat of the music. The beat sometimes is like a road that gets better as you travel. The beat is sometimes like the hart beat, beating with a constant rhythm; it is like a living thing, growing, pulsating as it changes; it is a constant factor, like the seasons, the waves of the ocean, the rotational cycles of planets, the division of cells. It is like the waves of the ocean coming and going while the foreground music is like the sky above it, moving in different directions, changing in shape and form, while the sea waves continue their constant motion. In our past, in the wild, when we danced by the fire, the beat used to be a constant beat that lasted for hours. A beat that grew with power as the night fell. A beat that made the dance become more bewitching and magical as the night came. There is an instinct, a primitive instinct inside of us that wants to connect with all of the forces of the universe which created us; all of the forces we are a part of, and what better way to do so than to dance to the beat. If one could view a growing body's biological actions as a beat, it would be such an orchestra of constant beats and changing beats. Beats that start simple, then get more complex as the organism grows. Cells that were not there, all of the sudden appear with their own beats, joining the others in this beautiful orchestra of change and synchronicity. It is this factor that gives the essence that I am looking in some of my music. I hope you get to enjoy it too. Feel the beat, let it grow, feel its power. Fetching Leah
