Kristi Rae is a singer-songwriter from Austin who makes deceptively unassuming, very quiet, mostly acoustic-guitar driven music. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, FOLK: Gentle Details: "Kristi's voice and supporting guitar make me think of time spent in front of campfires or afternoons lazing about underneath lush green trees; a beautiful soundtrack from happier times."

(spacecityrock.com/issue10/reviews/rev-R.shtml) "...a fitting, seamless backdrop to a good old sad-session in a big fat chair with a cup of your favorite hot or cold beverage."

(fastbacker.blogspot.com/2005/12/kristi-rae-writes-beautiful-songs.html) In July of 2006, Kristi Rae sets out to release her second album Things We Had To Let Go. For the recording of this project, Kristi turned to Tim Dittmar of Las Olas Recording Studio in Georgetown, Texas. The album was recorded analog. Several musicians came together to add simple, melodic layers to Kristis songs including annabella (Tim and Terri Dittmar), Dave Wirth and Dennis Ludiker (South Austin Jug Band).
