California Celtic, vocal and instrumental pub style music 13 MP3 Songs WORLD: Celtic, FOLK: Traditional Folk Details: Paint A Rose Acoustic Music with a Celtic Twist The five members of Paint a Rose have been performing together for three years and have become favorites around Tehachapi. While concentrating on the Celtic music of Ireland and Scotland, Paint a Rose delights audiences by also moving easily into jazz, calypso or blues when least expected. What makes this group unique is their instrumentation, which includes cello, accordion, bodhran, guitar, fiddle, tenor banjo and whistle, and even French horn and timpani. Their lush vocal harmonies bring a fresh approach to old and new standards. The members of Paint a Rose are classically trained musicians who all sing, as well as double on various instruments. Lead vocalist Tim Kelly plays the Irish whistle, Bodhran and other percussion. Tim can also put on the brogue for some comic Irish storytelling, if the occasion warrants. Adding harmonies and lead vocals on chick songs is cellist Deborah Hand, who doubles on fiddle and tenor banjo. Elegance and accordion are usually not uttered in the same sentence, unless the accordion is in the hands by keyboard master Dennis Massie, who also adds harmonic coloring to the vocals. Providing classy guitar stylings and occasional deep bass vocals are Wee Davy Gamble on lead and Dave Brown on rhythm. Paint a Rose is available for special occasions and wherever fun, lively Celtic-based music is appreciated. Their first CD, In Full Bloom, includes Scottish fiddler Maury Richmond is available on CD Baby and fiddlerscrossing.com.
