That began his journey in writing heart felt songs about love and life. Now, hundreds of songs later, he shares with his fans music inspired by his life events. Pete has seen it all though his rich and varied experiences: the highs, and the lows, and everything in between, always striving to make sense of the contrast between the ideals of his Christian faith and the reality which is life. Pete writes of the common struggle we all face, but offers hope and strength for the journey. Pete, now a retired US Army Chaplain, has also served as a pastor, trauma hospital chaplain, and hospice chaplain. But throughout his life, he has always maintained his love of song writing. Pete continues to perform whenever he can. Pete owns and operates The Upper Room Recording Studio and produces other artists as well as his own music. Sit back and enjoy music which will inspire you, give you reason to pause and reflect, and make you happy to be alive, appreciative of this precious gift of life!
