Polaris continues to offer New Age/Classical instrumental music. The CD title is derived from our second 'symphonic' offering, tracks 14 through 18. This CD uses primarily "classical" instruments, except as noted below. Not a lot of acoustic guitars or mandolins on this one. There is a Bonus Track on the CD. Our friends Aardvark joined us for a "Classical" version of their Instrumental Rock song "On The Edge of Lost and Found". The original version will appear on their next CD, "Perfectly Flawed", which they are still recording. All the music on this CD was recorded using a computer and virtual instruments; Native Instruments Kompakt, Native Instruments Kontakt2, and Garritan Personal Orchestra are the main software packages used. You can also hear some of my compositions on a unique internet radio station broadcasting out of Atlanta. showprogrammingoffers 24/7 music from independent artists who use the software program Garritan Personal Orchestra. GPO is a virtual symphony orchestra for your computer. If you want to create music using symphonic instruments, please check out GPO the showprogramming site.
