Newest Down South representative for Texas. Member of the infamous Poetic Vandals. Blend of solid beats with catchy songs that will make everybody ask "Who Dat?" 16 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Rap, HIP HOP/RAP: Southern Style Details: There has been a significant movement in rap over the last few years. People have started to take a look at Southern Rap a lot more seriously. From Atlanta's crunk music, to Miami's booty bass, all the way to the laid back delivery of Houston rap, the South has created a market for itself and proved that the "Dirty, Dirty" is more than just good food and hot summers. As artists like Chamillionare, Paul Wall, and Slim Thug gain more and more popularity, all eyes have been fixed on Texas as fans are waiting to see who the next Southern representative will be. One of the major cities at the forefront of Texas rap is San Antonio, TX. Out of this colorful city comes rap artist Qwik Deville. As an original member of San Antonio supergroup Poetic Vandals, Mr. Deville has featured on several Texas albums and opened up for headlining artists such as Juvenile, Mike Jones, Lil Flip, and Chamillionaire to name a few. His upfront lyrics and in-your-face style have made him a favorite among listeners and his lead single "Who Dat?" is being heard in more and more car stereo systems all around Texas. Overall, Qwik Deville is one of the first three solo releases to come out of the Poetic Vandals (J-Roc and Nightmare are the other two). These guys are known to put on a good performance and have developed a following that continues to grow with every show. With the Texas and Latin rap movements nearing full throttle and Payway Records barely in its prime, soon all of the country will be asking the same question..... Who Dat?
