An eclectic mix of folk, blues, country, and rock n' roll. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Traditional Folk, FOLK: Modern Folk Details: Rob Raroux is a Connecticut-based singer-songwriter who recently released his first album, "Block Island Days", a heartfelt tribute to the beloved island off the Rhode Island coast which The Nature Conservancy calls "one of the last great places on earth". The recording boasts an all-star cast of New England-based musicians from the folk circuit and beyond, including Handy Award-winning blues guitarist Duke Robillard, and steel guitarist Buddy Cage, of the New Riders of the Purple Sage. (Both artists have recording credits with Bob Dylan. Cage appears on "Blood on the Tracks", while Robillard appears on "Time Out of Mind".) Superior songwriting, superbly-spirited performances, and quality studio production all combine to regale the listener in this journey of eclectic musical styles which range from traditional folk to blues to contemplative instrumental to rock n' roll. Says The Block Island Times, in a recent review: "Even if it weren't the only album of songs about Block Island, 'Block Island Days' would still be worth buying." (Rob has sold a total of approximately 250 of these records during the album's first two months of release!)
