----- R E V I E W S "Superfortress is sticking to its own path. This is a different brand of 80s-flavoured music, with more originality, spunk, creativity and slick danceability." E. A Solinas - AmazonTop 10 Customer Reviewer "If you're a fan of eighties-style electronic music and you, for lack of a better term, miss the eighties, order Superfortress' debut. If you're into that sort of thing, it's very doubtful you'll be disappointed." Der Kommissar - Amazon Top 50 Customer Reviewer "his new album pulls off a more fleshed-out and drama-vocaled electrofunk that triangulates between Bowie's Scary Monsters, A Flock of Seagulls, and Wax Trax Records." Chuck Eddy - THE VILLAGE VOICE ----- B I O SUPERFORTRESS is the brainchild of Japanese musician NAO. On the streets Tokyo's Shibuya district Nao spent his teenage years searching for instruments/records and inhaling everything that the brilliant area had to offer. It was at the age of 18 that Nao moved to the equally artistic Lower East Side of New York City, where he holed himself up in a co-op on Ave C and pieced together his Superfortress. With a healthy obsession for vintage Formula 1 racing and computer programming Nao's music began to take the shape of a slick, and shiny machine. The music of Superfortress can be easily traced back to 80's new wave of pop heroes like Duran Duran, David Bowie, Berlin and The Human League. It is the addition of Drum n' Bass beats and Sax lines from Sam Kawa (DJ Krush) that moves the music of Superfortress forward a few centuries, creating Nao's dream, the musical equivalent of a vintage Formula 1 racer, old yet modern. LIVE MEMBER (as of September 2006) Nao - vocal/guitar/sequencer Bett Thompson - Drums/Break beats
