"I am always fascinated and amazed when I see God in a new and different way. Whether through an amazing sharing of his Word, through excellent reading materials, or ministries that share drama and music. Being a musician, I have had the wonderful opportunity to experience many of the local musical ministries that confess Christ and, through song, share their love for Him. One particular artist had me mesmerized from the start... Susan Jansen shares a vocal talent that is honest, anointed and delivered from a heart so sold out to God, that it touches like cool rain on a hot day. Her clarity, tone and delivery are soft and soothing. Her attitude in ministry is one of transparency. She seems to desire nothing more than to sit in the arms of her Lord, and sing His praise. It is the anointing that breaks the yoke upon a person bound by things of this world, and truly, Susan and her voice are immersed in the presence of God. " Steve Tarak,

Contemporary Christian Artist FOOLISH LITTLE MIRACLES Music by Susan Jansen 2002 Call me senseless, call me what you will, Although it hurts to hear you say it. You say this faith of mine is so outrageous, Still, you know Ive got to play it. You think Im crazy Im a serious fool. But theres no dreamin up something this cool. Theres no such thing as just a coincidence When you speak of the angels above. I believe in foolish little miracles cause I believe in love. There is no explanation why, what many scholars cant defend. Others as unintelligent as I should be allowed to understand. Riches, intellect, political stay, Arent really needed but youve got to have faith. And Im grateful to the ones who are watching over me And guide me through this life on earth, yeah. My eyes and ears arent always telling me the truth Ive got to listen with my heart. I know how slow and careless I can be, So Im glad to know theyre looking out for me. CHRIST IS MY COMPASS Music Arrangement: Susan Jansen Lyrics: Jeff Donnell Susan Jansen 2002 So many distractions surround us today. The wrong turn is easy, we may lose the way. The traffic is heavy, the pace is so fast. And we tend to find comfort in things that dont last. Life is uncertain, can be unkind. Run years in the race and one day you might find youre weary, youve wandered, walked right off the track. Youre far from your home and youve got to get back. Im far from my home and Ive got to get back. Ill use Christ as my compass to keep me on course. Christ is the compass always pointing true north. With Christ the Good Sheperd, I will never be lost. When I need direction, Ill look to His cross. Chorus harmony: Ill use Christ as my light. walk me safe through my night bring-ing me, bringing me home. Alleluia -oh-oh I know on our journey we are never alone. the Lord walks beside me, the Lord leads us home. through the kindness of others, He strengthens our will. Our angels and brothers, walk with us still. My angels and brothers walk with me here. Music bridge And Ill never stop seeking and searching. Its a lifelong adventure, I know. The desire of my heart is the true love of God. His light is the quest of my soul. His light is the quest of my soul. ABBA, PAPA, FATHER Music Lyrics: Susan Jansen Abba, Papa, Father this Ive heard you called Am I talking to no one? Can you see me at all Are you there as I stare at the wall. Papa, Father, please hear my plea Are youre willing to listen to me my thoughts are so brokenhow do I say Oh could you show me how to pray? Ive heard that your love is so great and so strong always near, like the rays of the sun. And its warmth and its might can shatter any night never keeping its light from anyone. Abba, Father, hear my plea. If its possible bring light to me. I am, less than human, a creature of sin And I dont know how or where to begin If theres one ray of hope you have hidden for me Oh Father, please let it be. PLAY ME (SONG OF ST. FRANCIS) Music by Susan Jansen Lyrics based on the prayer of St. Francis of Assisi Play me. I will be your instrument. Love your people Lord and I will do the same. Whenever you need someone to sing your songs of peace, Oh please, play me. There is hatred Lord, in this world abounding but I will be there to sow a seed of love. People hurting themselves and each other I can show forgiveness like you send from up above, play me. See the people Lord, smothering in doubt. Maybe I can lift them up with faith When surrounded by despairing situations Give them hope to help them find their way, play me. Too often comes the darkness We can bear a light for the way. When the sadness comes creeping over, find a way to bring them joy and make a better day, play me. (to Refrain) Oh Lord and Master, so Divine, How can I help this world of thine? Never seek consolation when others need consoled. Not to do the telling as wanting to be told, Never need the loving when others need it more, Not to be receiving as giving to your poor. I may die Lord, letting go of all I wanted but I will try Lord to give myself so I can spend eternal life with you, play me. (Refrain) VICTORY FOR LOVE (PEYTONS SONG) Lyrics Music by Susan Jansen Pink skies sing of the wonder that dawns on us today. Were asking strength and counsel. Help us on our way. Please help us on our way. Our faith will guard her cradle where our patience tried. Sweet hope is singing a lullabye, our longing satisfied, satisfied. By my side youll walk these paths of new life with my hand to point the way in my arms to comfort, nurture you. In my heart youll always stay, in my heart youll always stay. Reaching across our world we join hearts together in His name bring peace and love to each other, let all men do the same, let all men do the same. So clear that you are with us, grace shines from above, understanding and selflessness have won a victory for Love, win a victory for Love. By His side youll walk these paths of new life with His hand to point the way in His arms to comfort, nurture you in His heart youll always stay. In His heart youll always, you will always, always stay. BEFORE I SLEEP Lyrics and Music: Susan Jansen 2002 Before I sleep, before I say goodnight, theres a few things running through my mind Wont wait til morning light. Did I make you feel like laughing - take the worries of your day and turn them into smiles, as you have done for me, a hundred million times, so unselfishly. Before I dream, before I sail away, if you wouldnt mind my asking you to hold my hands and pray. Did I tell you how I love you- how Im sorry for the things Ive done that made you sigh, let the sun set on my anger or put tears in those eyes that mean the world to me. Did I make the world a better place with the things Ive said and done? Did I take good care of all the things I have? Did I share in someones dream, have the heart and the time to make it happen? Have I become all that I was meant to be? Before I slip off to somewhere Ive never been my darlin Ive been dreamin of, some way to say that Im so glad our God above blessed my life with your love and will you be mine forever? I could hold you for eternity. You truly have been my best friend. I love you now. Ill love you when I go to sleep. MAGNIFICAT Text: Luke 1: 46:55 Music: Susan Jansen My soul proclaims the greatness of my Lord and my spirit is rejoicing For He has looked upon my lowliness and has called on me. And from this moment til the end of time all shall call me blessed He who is Mighty has done great things for me Holy is His name He brings His tender hope and mercy to every age that fears Him He shows the strength of His mighty arm scattering the arrogant of mind, the arrogant of heart He has removed the rulers from their thrones gently lifting up the lowly and the hungry he fills with wonderful things emptying the rich and sending them away He lifted Israel, His servant ever mindful of His mercy He kept his promise to our fathers to Abraham and his sons forever. Refrain TODAY IS THE GIFT Lyrics and Music by Susan Jansen Yesterday, he was a dreamer but that was all those yesterdays ago Now those moments are gone forever Why did he ever let them go? No matter, how we want to we cant turn it around, turn it around again, oh no... Yesterday is the memory we dreamed we would live And tomorrow is the question. But today is the gift. So this day is a window...an opening in time Where I can each in and rearrange the moments Take them in my hands and make them mine oh mine And no matter, how I want to I cant turn it around, turn it around again, oh no... We dream all in color, never fade to black and white cause the sun shines every second in the middle of the night Each day, the time trains comin rollin on past, goin so fast are you gonna get on when the little door opens are you gonna get on , are you gonna get on or will you step back on the safety of the curb, put your fare in your pocket pretend you never heard that, this train is rollin, rollin for the last time. WHAT SHALL I GIVE? Music by Susan Jansen based on text of Micah 6: 7-8 2002 What shall I give, for all Hes given me? What shall I bring before the Lord Most High? Shall I bring, my life, could that, ever be enough? What shall I give? How shall I pray? Where should I go? For giving me life, the precious time I walk the earth And all these gifts, for all I own For those in my life, that make it so complete, For all the things Ive done and all Ive yet to know. You have been told, of all that is good and what the Lord requires of you. Only do the right, love all goodness and humbly walk with God. Chorus I can bring faith, I can sing hope, I can breathe You.
