Background Aron Neale, singer / songwriter, was born 32 years ago in Auckland, New Zealand. He was raised on the music of the Stones, the Beatles, Paul Simon, Bob Seger, and Fleetwood Mac to name the more prominent artists in his parents record collection. From a young age Aron was in the process of creating a "sound"; blending these international influences with his own unique Alternative Country Rock flavour. Aron went on to develop his own musical interests including the sounds of popular Rock and Southern Rock artists such as Springsteen, Mellencamp, and Dylan and the vibrant up tempo alternative country rock beat of Steve Earle the Dukes. By the age of fourteen Aron had been playing guitar for two years and was in his first garage band. Three years later he had been performing regularly with a number of bands as a singer/guitarist, and at the same time completing studies in Architectural Quantity Surveying, Construction Project Management / Cost Engineering. Aron's first major band was the well known Auckland 'Folk, Rock Blues' combo, Acoustic Attitude. Acoustic Attitude played a very successful mix of popular covers and original songs, many written by Aron. Before calling it quits in 1994, Acoustic Attitude had played many residencies around the Auckland area, attracting a very large and loyal following. The secret of the Attitude's success was the accessible repertoire: a mix of folk, rock, blues, southern rock, and R B which appealed to a wide selection of audiences at many popular venues including The Nag's Head, Water Jump, The Horse Trap, Java Jive, The Gluepot, Pier 21 and at many private parties. They were in demand, fully professional and fully booked every week. It is the vitality and energy behind this success that. Aron Neale has brought into Fiesta Drive. After going solo, from 1995 to 2001, Aron has recorded Various Singles and the self titled album, "Aron Neale" which includes 16 of Aron's original compositions. This is his third recording project since Acoustic Attitudes "Live Attitude" at Auckland's infamous venue The Gluepot, during a packed concert in 1993. Since going solo, from 1995 to 2001, Aron has recorded Various Singles and the self titled album, "Aron Neale" which includes 16 of Aron's original compositions. This is his third recording project since Acoustic Attitudes "Live Attitude" at Auckland's infamous venue The Gluepot, during a packed concert in 1993. Aron has also toured extensively overseas where he visited the UK, Europe and North America on a "Rock Pilgrimage" of his musical influences. Along the way he met and played with John "Cougar" Mellencamp, Bob Seger and Steve Earle. One of Aron's songs was selected by the Don Williams Music Publishing Group at the Los Angeles Songwriters Showcase. During this time Aron sounded out record labels, visited Mellencamp's recording studio a number of times, met both John Mellencamps and Steve Earles bands and met with Garth Brooke's manager, Robert Metzgar, who showed an interest in promoting Aron's work in the U.S.A. Aron Neale is now back from overseas, and based in Auckland with his new band "Fiesta Drive which has been enjoying success in New Zealand, playing successful gigs all over the country. Off stage, Aron has built his own professional state of the art recording studio.
