There's a saying that says God bless the Child that has his own. And God has blessed Eric IQ with his own New York-based music and film production company, Angel Youth Enterprises. Since its start the company has launched numerous records and few more are in production. The latest out of Angel Youth production is from Eric IQ with his new album 7. This is not your typical Hip Hop/Rap Music of today. Bling, Cars and Video Chick's are definitely not the topics of this album. Don't be fooled with song title like Hip Hop Chicks, a track actually giving tribute to the females in Hip Hop. The best description I can offer would be calling it Hip Hop, Rastafarian Rock HipHopRastaRocker. HipHopRastaRocker was also the name Eric IQ gave to his previous album. This name has grown to become a Brand. HipHopRastaRocker is a production company as well as a digital/online records label with many artists and releases. IQ's new album 7 is ready to serve its purpose in the world of music. The 14 Tracks on the album have a fresh sound and a positive aspect in today's Hip Hop music. By listening to track like New York City Man, you can get carried away into life in the Big Apple and the life of Eric IQ. With Fire, the artist takes us on a trip in the HipHopRastaRocker world from New York City to Berlin to London via Kingston. It is an electrifying fusion of Hip Hop, Reggae and Rock music. Nothing can explain better what HipHopRastaRocker represents and means than this album. An eclectic mix of sounds and cultures beautifully put together for music lovers with no genres boundaries. 7 is the magic number
