Details: In a day of age when music seems lost, new talent is formed out of the woodwork. It is the ultimate goal to bring together a lost culture, with a soul for all to breathe. Maybe it's an act of God, or just a mere coincidence, either way the space must be filled with a very important vibe. The longing goal of any musician is to find a purpose for his or her melodious creativity, with the freedom to do what is natural. No one likes to compromise, we all just wanna play, and that is why we find ourselves creating for this musical masterpiece. You see, we were once lost musicians until we found this band, Knundrum, and it began a journey that far outweighed anything else in life. The music, true to its unique form, touches every genre that is inherited on this earth. It's a colorful transgression taking you away from a pure form of reality. To us, it is the music that cannot be judged. The fact is that if you find a group of musicians that allow you to speak the truth in what you play, reality is what you will find in an unrealistic world, and you can only be at peace with yourself for eternity. Our home, Bloomington, IN surrounds our spiritual vibe. This town is a Mecca for gifted musicians and artists, and poses as a giant stage for us all to perform. The community supports all forms of creativity, and leaves an open mind behind for us all to inherit. The great Garcia called this town home for a few, in his quest to play with Bill Monroe. There is magic here, lifespeaking that is! So you ask, what is a Knundrum?, and the answer lies within the unspoken heart. We represent a time of peace in a world of travesty, a feeling of love when everyone seems to hate, and a path paving passion in a soul directed nowhere. Music represents a universal language, and if you take this responsibility, you must move it forward so that others can evolve. It's the vibe that produces the true meaning of a band, how it makes a person feel, and how it moves a life into positive direction. It is the most important for us to always keep moving forward, for staleness burns the heart, and challenges light the fire. Knundrum lives in a culture purely formed on musical pursuance. The music runs deeply into the heart with a cosmically teased laughter. Curiosity makes it move, persistence makes it work.
