POP: Dream Pop, AVANT GARDE: Psychedelia Show all album songs: Ribbon of Dreams Songs Details:
"I will go to sleep in order to dream, I will only wake in order to sleep....." A promenade of lobsters leads directly to Gerard de Nerval's suicide note. A black eye flares up at midnight in a pitch black room, an old banged-up copy of a Velvet Underground record skips joyously. What are the Black Dahlia's makeup tips? and who was your favorite go-go boy at the Gaiety? Produced by Antony. Tracked at Dubway Studios by Emery Dobyns, mastered by Eric Spring. Mixes by Jonathan Bepler, Emery, Scott Hollingsworth, Al Houghton, and Doug Henderson. "Veterans of New York City's Underground, Marti and Paul now appear as the heavy art post punk lounge act, Beaut. Their unsettling vision of life in the shadows is alternately seductive, horrific, amusing and claustrophobic. Using little but Paul's processed electric guitar and Marti's bizarrely entrancing vocal stylings, the couple paint a portrait of a world rife with black eyes, lobsters, suicide notes, murders, sadomasochism, smoldering cigarettes and prostitution. And yet it is not a report from a tough and hardened narrator; rather it is with a wide-eyed and child-like normalcy that the details of their world are revealed. Beaut cling to aesthetics like a life ring in a sea of madness." Antony (Antony and the Johnsons) LIMITED EDITION -- all cd's are individually hand numbered.
