Band leader and principal songwriter Doug Marsh, a Vancouver native and longtime Austin resident, says the band's music focuses on a positive approach to life - and this optimism is instantly apparent in the group's joyous melodies and introspective lyrics. The acoustic/electric band deftly blends various guitars and violin with flutes, bass and percussion. Besides the strong songwriting and musicianship, Catch a Dream's distinguishing characteristics include the compelling and intense three-part vocal harmonies of Marsh and fellow vocalist Jodi Withers and Lynette Perkins. Two of the band members contribute to songwriting duties. Marsh says it's exciting that such talented performers with their own solid and diverse backgrounds could come together as friends and as a singular, powerful musical force.
