A flamenco fiesta with tangos, buleras, alegras, sole, taranto, malagueña and fandango por jabera from one of Granada's famous gypsy families. 9 MP3 Songs WORLD: Flamenco, WORLD: Gypsy Show all album songs: Pan Con Aceite Y Azcar Songs Details: Jaime Heredia Amaya El Parrn was born in Granada in 1955 and learnt to sing by listening to his Gypsy family, his mother, La Rochina, his grandfather El Parrn, and above all his uncle, Juanillo el Gitano. At the age of twelve he was already well known for his performances in the Gypsy caves of the Sacromonte and the famous flamenco club, the oldest in Spain, la Peña La Platera. He went on to perform all over Andalusia and throughout Spain in the theatre shows "Macama jonda" and Sueo Terral. Continuing the family tradition Jaime taught his daughter Marina, now a popular flamenco singer, the flamenco art, a partnership that was explored in the TV programme In the Name of the Father alongside the flamenco dancer Manolete with his daughter Judea, also a dancer. Jaime has performed in India, China, Europe, America, Japan, Egypt and Morocco where he performed for the King. Jaime has participated in recordings such as Grana cante por Tangos, Villancicos del Sacromonte, Emilio Mayas CD Temple as well as his own CD Pan con Aciete y Azucar. Considered an artists artist Jaime El Parrn continues a flamenco tradition which is rarely found nowadays, that of 'cante jondo gitano', the Gypsy deep song. In 2004 he worked with the flamencologist Miguel Angel Gonzaléz demonstrating various songs and styles at his lectures. He continues performing on the world stage and in the caves of the Sacromonte and will be recording his next CD in 2007
