A native Chicago Southsider (and Sox fan), her love of music began with Sunday morning broadcasts of Breakfast with the Beatles. She fell in love with the music of her parents generation and to this day is influenced by such great artists as The Beatles, Simon and Garfunkel, and Fleetwood Mac, along with many contemporary country artists including the Dixie Chicks, Shania Twain, and Miranda Lambert. Her first appearance on stage was in 1996 in her 8th grade production of Grease. Katie continued singing from that moment on participating in the Mother McAuley High School chorus and musicals, the choir at Illinois State University, as well as several other talent shows and competitions. She realized through these experiences her dream of performing on stage. With the wonderful support of her family and friends, she was inspired her to chase her dream. In June 2006, Katie joined the Chicago-based modern country rock band, Yard Fulla Cars. This band has continued to grow and gain popularity in the Chicagoland area. This year, Yard Fulla Cars was nominated as one of the BEST COUNTRY BANDS in Chicago by nitelife.org, and for her solo career, Katie was nominated as one of the best ORIGINAL ARTISTS of 2008. Aside from her career with Yard Fulla Cars, Katie is an avid songwriter. Her passion for songwriting was continually inspired and shaped by her numerous trips to Nashville, Tennessee where she has worked with some of the most talented musicians in the Music City. Her very first independently released EP was recorded in Nashville and released in May 2008. Her first full length album is due out February 2009. Katie wrote EVERY single track on the album and acted as producer as well. One of her original songs, Fingertips, was the catalyst to her winning the US99.5 Talent Competition last year. A former Chicago Public School teacher, Katie wrote that song about her then 6th grade students to encourage them that no dream is too far out of reach. And that is exactly her philosophy. As broadcast by US99.5 early morning show, Katie Quick is a name we will definitely be hearing about in the future.
