Architektur also compiled the CD "Musik For Film" (Burning Bowl Records), which features "Downbeat" from many of the genres premier artists including: Rootz Zeebo of Thievery Corporation (See-I), Rick Torres of the Supreme Beings Of Leisure and Bitter:Sweet (Lazy), Portishead contemporaries Sin, Jamie Saft of John Zorn's Masada, Professor Oz featuring Sugar B of Kruder Dorfmeister's G-Stone and NuJazz pioneers Xploding Plastix, among 17 heavy hitters ... Reviews: "Travelogue" requires multiple listens to even begin to appreciate the depths of its treasures. Rather than falling into the familiar reggae-inspired vibe of much dub (though this album isn't without that influence), there is a much more ambient and experimental approach here. Yet the atmosphere conjured doesn't alienate the less adventurous listener - for the palpable mood is the very thing that envelopes the happy hearer of Architektur's mesmerizing release. Waves of stylishness wash across the listener, with many shifts and surprises along the way.

"Travelogue" is also sample-heavy, with odd bits of dialogue and verbage only adding to the curious resonance of this compelling album. Four and a half stars. - Kristofer Upjohn (djfix.com) "the smoker ROCKS! would love to download!" - Erdem Tunakan (Cheap Records) "DJ Architektur played the dreamiest, trippiest music I'd heard in many moons" - Stephen MacMillan Moser (Austin Chronicle)
