More sociopathic pop seeking something genuine in the world, this time with guitar. "The smarter that you are, the harder it will be." 13 MP3 Songs POP: Quirky, JAZZ: Weird Jazz Details: This is my second set of songs since "coming out" with my music for the first time last year, and hopefully I'm sounding a little better. The songs reach you without ever having encountered an objective opinion, so I've no idea whether you'll like them. It doesn't get any more scary - or exciting - for a solo artist, but I feel it's the only hope for honest and genuine communication which in the end is all I'm looking for in the world. I used a guitar for the first time on a few of the songs which generally reflects that this is - again, at least, I hope - a more lively, quirky and irreverent production than "Teething", though I do dip into the sociopathic doldrums more than a few times as is my wont. The bonus tracks are seasonal, included here for lack of anywhere else in particular to put them. "Pumpkin Song", clearly, is a Halloween song, and I'm the first to admit that it's unfinished. I'm more pleased with my Christmas song "Cry No More" - an "uncensored" version of which is available on request. Neither should be considered a part of the album which ends at track 11. The first track, "Cold Heart", incidentally, was originally meant to be the last track of "Teething" - so I guess you could really call this a sequel as it picks up exactly where the first album left off. I sincerely hope you enjoy, engage, understand ... any positive response can only be good. For those who require names: Melody wrote the music and lyrics, Mark Shoat produced it, and Casper was the singer. But that's all just me really. Love was provided by Sarah, to whom I give all my thanks for putting up with me when I was working on it. One day we'll be together. People who are interested in Fiona Apple Morrissey Chet Baker should consider this download.
