Glennwood is a unique blend of emo and rock, generated by four members with distinctly different musical influences ranging from Sunny Day Real Estate, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Radiohead, Elliott Smith, Hendrix, Zeppelin, Phish and Rush to name a few. Altho 6 MP3 Songs ROCK: Emo, POP: Power Pop Details: Power pop emo rock BlowUpRadio.com "Swim to the Surface" kicks in with some power pop "emo" rock in the vein of My Chemical Romance with "Regression" and "Nothing at All." Following that are four songs that are more mid-tempoed pop rockers. All the songs on this EP are catchy pop tunes done right with good riffs and tight vocals. These are the types of songs you could hear on a pop radio station and go, "Hey, it's one of the few good songs this station plays." - Lazlo, 3/2/05 End of the Innocence HushNJ.com "Simply put, Glennwood is a very nice little pop band that would do their locality proud if heard elsewhere... It's a late-'90s, end-of-the-innocence, summer pop sound that won't blow your doors off, but just may make you wonder how rock radio could have changed so starkly in just six years or so. Play it at a barbecue once the weather gets warmer, I guarantee you someone asks who it is and where they can get a copy." - Jason Notte, 3/1/05 Gig of the Week Courier News "Glennwood is a great band musically, with such wonderful '80s influences as The Clash, The Cure, U2 and The Replacements. They have a cool modern rock sound that's as melodic as it is hard and heavy. The rhythm section is inventive, spot-on and will get a crowd groovin' beyond tapping its collective toe." - Bob Makin, 2/7/04
