Related styles: FOLK: Modern Folk, ROCK: Acoustic People who are interested in Nick Drake Damien Rice Ray LaMontagne should consider this download. Details: Jeff Iricks long awaited follow up CD to the 2005 release Ride A Pony is guaranteed not to disappoint. This recording reflects some of the best ideals in the Modern Folk, Singer/Songwriter Genre. Survive contains unique melodies, rhythms and lyrics that give you an insight deep into the twists, turns, and emotions that color Jeffs essence, but more importantly, allows you to look into your own soul. Jeff shares his life experiences to express sometimes conflicting emotions. He brings to us the upheaval of the emotions in our daily life and the ebb and flow of joy that most of us can relate to, if we allow ourselves to look that closely at our own lives. The songs and stories that really ring true are the ones celebrating the joys, opportunities (sometimes missed) and struggles of life. At times this music feels like he is sitting in the room with you sharing his lifes stories, lost moments of time, captured in song. Once again, he is accompanied by lead guitarist Larry Thompson, whose guitar completes the feelings of emotion set forth by the melody and lyrics. Also appearing on this CD is Steve Connelly on pedal steel and bass guitar. Steve makes the Pedal Steel cry in its traditional way and defy tradition with an unworldly beauty. Jeff Irick vocals and guitar Larry Thompson lead guitar Steve Connelly pedal steel and bass guitar Produced by Jeff Irick, Larry Thompson, and Steve Connelly All songs recorded, engineered, and mastered at Zen Recording Studio, Pinellas Park FL, by Steve Connelly.
