Details: FROM classical opera to popular commercial songs heard on TV, Jeffrey Trambley thrills music lovers in Japan and abroad with his vocal versatility. BORN and raised in Minneapolis, Minnesota (USA), Jeffrey ventured abroad to the Czech Republic to begin his operatic training. Taking first prize in the Czech National Music School Vocal Competition in 1995, he completed three years of operatic training under vocal coach, Hana Keferova. In 1998, Jeffrey headed to Asia and stayed on to continue his vocal studies at the graduate school of the Tokyo College of Music. There, he completed a graduate degree in Vocal Performance studying under Professors Keizo Takahashi, Yoko Nomura and Echiko Narita as well as taking part in Master Classes by Elio Battaglia from the Turino Academy of Music and Jonathan Alder from the Berlin Hochschule. NOW based in Tokyo, Japan, Jeffrey's repertoire has grown with concert engagements singing everything from Mozart's "Magic Flute" and "Don Giovanni" to musical roles in "The Phantom of the Opera" and lieder recitals of Schubert's "Winterreise" and Dvorak's "Biblical Songs." In September, 2008 he presented a solo recital featuring an all-English program of works by composers ranging from Purcell and Handel to Aaron Copland and Cole Porter. JEFFREY currently resides in Tokyo and in addition to a busy concert schedule, is active as a freelance narrator and voice artist for TV and corporate promotional videos. His voice has been featured in commercial campaign songs for major corporations such as Honda, Bridgestone and Yamaha . 1995 1998 20089
