acoustic progressive psychedelic folk rock 16 MP3 Songs FOLK: Angry, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: Everybody Needs a Tuba Artist: Joel Sprayberry Label: Indie Length: 16 tracks / 70:58 joel sprayberry has been writing and performing his own style of music for over a decade now, lending the style a unique moniker: acoustic progressive psychedelic folk rock. Playing in a multitude of different venues all over the country, joel has shared the stage with hundreds of amazing performers from country music's "pat green" to dove award winners "mercy me". joel has recently signed a national distribution agreement and released a 5th album while still remaining a hard core independent act. Aside from Phil Keaggy, the industry has been largely devoid of any acoustic guitar master who can rock. Well, make way for Joel Sprayberry who blasts onto the scene with a self-described "folkadelic free for all" Fans of acoustic guitar mavens Dave Matthews, John Mayer and the lesser known Willy Porter will find a warm, fulfilling home inside the "House of Sprayberry." Unlike many guitar-intensive artists, Sprayberry has put as much thought and care into crafting his lyrics as he has into creating his finger-flying licks. With the skill of an engaging storyteller Sprayberry opens up worlds with his words. -tollbooth.org
