Like a Surfing Monk grooving on a tidal wave, John Heartson's smooth voice, passionate lyrics music take you beyond the stars with Dalai Lama like wisdom, John Lennon's attitude, Pink Floyd's sound Alan Parsons arrangements. 9 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: "The only light to shine on the path ahead, is the Love that's inside your heart" John Heartson "Beyond the Stars" took close to a year to record and produce and you can hear the results. The lyrics are deep and have meaning at many levels. The music arrangements sound fantastic on any sound system and really trip with headphones. (John Heartson was also the engineering manager of a speaker company) Just listen to the music, words and sounds. Rock, cosmic surfing groove, gentle spiritual ballads, electro pop, titanium rock, an eclectic seamless mix. Songs of love, spiritual messages. Songs revealing global coverups, including entertaining impressions of Presidents timed just right. Secret messages, computer voices singing songs about electronic surveillance, the Sound of Angels Crying contains ancient wisdom and one song called "A Message From John" sounds like it is channeled from the former Beatle himself. (If you are a Lennon fan you must to take the time to hear this one with that in mind.) Sounds and Instrumentation: smooth lead vocals, layered harmony vocals, bass, drums, keyboards, (piano, organ, synth, strings, cosmic sounds etc.) electric guitar (lead and rhythm), acoustic guitar, e-bow on electric guitar. Everyone is amazed at how well produced it sounds. Styles: A clever mix of original light rock, ballads, grooves, titanium rock, pop, techno and crossover. A masterful cosmic roller coaster. Who Does It Sound Like? People have been comparing John Heartson to Pink Floyd, Alan Parsons Project, the Beatles, John Lennon, the Talking Heads, 10 cc and Mike Pinder. Everyone that buys it says they become hooked and play it over and over. Donna Packard, reviewer for Boston Live wrote this wonderful review..... BEYOND THE STARS "when you know who you are, you can see beyond the stars..." A musical work of art and genius...Listen to this CD once...it will begin to capture your attention...twice and you'll want to listen again and the third time you are hooked! You'll find yourself singing "Right now it's getting better" in the shower and humming lines from "A Message from John" in the car. John Heartson brings to view the corruption and fear we are facing--and calls us to the scene' to "meet us on the hilltop and stop this machine..." while awakening us with heartfelt messages of hope and love "At end of your life, there's nothing that you take and when you leave it will be too late to give the love that you could be giving here. Don't waste another day living life in fear.." a soulful blend of rock, easy listening, pop, techno and new age that touches teens and baby boomers alike. Donna Packard John Heartson is a recording engineer, producer, singer songwriter, keyboardist that also plays guitar and a variety of other instruments. This CD sounds so good no one believes it was recorded in Heartson's home studio. See heartsonbio page for details. Heartson is also a former research engineer that now promotes sustainable energy and fully transparent oil politics. He drives a vegetable oil solar powered 30 foot motorhome.
