Details: Rhoda Bernard, lead vocals, piano, tambourine Jim Armenti, clarinet, guitar, mandolin, back-up vocals Amy Rose, piano, flute, back-up vocals Joe Blumenthal, bass, back up vocals, nose flute Neil Zagorin, drums Klezmir plays Eastern European Yiddish pop music, and the musicianship on display in this first recording by the Northampton based band is first rate, especially Jim Armentis fevered clarinet playing and Rhoda Bernards full-bodied nicely accented vocals (in both Yiddish and English). This is a jazzed-up version of the way this splendid music was performed in the old country. The only drawback if it can be called one is the albums incessant happiness, which makes it difficult to get all the way though in one listening. Then again, theres nothing wrong with wanting to get up and dance! -Ed Symkus, the Weekly Tab, Boston "...this outfit really does know how to light a fire." - Dirty Linen "hypnotic, wonderful flute... high energy danceability" - Bravo "This is a band Id really, really like to see live - they sound like theyd blow everyone off the stage and have a lot of fun doing it! the piano is unusually tasty, the flute is also quite superb..." - Ari Davidow, klezmershack.com
