Rootsy and earthy americana country rock. Her unique vocal and songwriting style are showcased on the engaging album full of rockers and heart-tuggers. 18 MP3 Songs ROCK: Roots Rock, ROCK: Americana Details: Mary Karlzen and Y&T Music are proud to announce the re-release of her critically acclaimed album; "Yelling at Mary". Originally released on Atlantic Records in 1995, the album features guest appearances by Jackson Browne, David Hidalgo (Los Lobos), Benmont Tench (Tom Petty), Kenny Aronoff (John Mellancamp and Indigo Girls), Kay Hanley (Letters to Cleo) and Andrew Hyra (Billy Pilgrim). The reissue includes 6 previously unreleased bonus tracks including the beautiful "Hearts" with Raul Malo (of The Mavericks). Produced by Kevin McCormick (Melissa Etheridge, Jackson Browne), the album was embraced by major music critics across the country and the video for "I'd Be Lying" was on regular rotation on VH1, MuchMusic, CMT and The Nashville Network. Mary is also a featured artist on both of Atlantic's top selling Christmas albums; "You Sleigh Me" and "Winter, Fire Snow". As a performer, Mary has shared the stage with some of the preeminent songwriters of our generation including Bob Dylan, John Hiatt, Jackson Browne, Nanci Griffith, Lucinda Williams, Indigo Girls and many others. A small sampling of reviews for "Yelling at Mary" "Karlzen never sounds like an imitator; she seems more like the equal of Sheryl Crow and Nanci Griffith. If you listen closely, in fact, you'll find that Karlzen rocks harder and more infectiously than her better known colleagues" - GEOFFREY HIMES - Washington Post "This refreshing major-label debut is a polished work of folk-tinged rock. - DAVID ELLIS - People Magazine "A powerful major-label debut from a woman whose voice and songwriting display a beguiling mix of grit and grace, cynicism and childlike wonder" - Billboard Magazine "What really pulls Karlzen out from the parade of hopeful newcomers is her lyrics" - MIRIAM LONGINO - Atlanta Journal Constitution "Chicago native Mary Karlzen is not typical of other singer-songwriters. The wicked adventure of her soprano sets her

apart from the hippie laced loops of her colleagues" - DAVE HOEKSTRA - Chicago Sun Times
