The inspiration for this CD originated from a project that served as personal Christmas presents from the artist but later turned into a little more. Take a listen and enjoy! About the Composer: At age eight, he started private piano lessons from his neighbor, a retired Professor at Texas University. While in high school and college, he learned to play almost all of the wind and brass instruments. Formal music education focused on performance and ethncal musicology. However, his practical music background reaches many forms of music such as classical, jazz, pop, rock, concert, orchestral, musicals, religious, and experimental. Being an engineer, he has a strong technical knowledge base, and being a bandleader keeps his perspective well rounded. His focus has been directed towards composition in synchronized music and vision.
