Details: This re-issue of Waiting For You is being released for two reasons. First and foremost is the fan support the band has sustained over the years. Without the always supportive fans the band would likely have given up all efforts of reuniting many years ago. Secondly the songs are uniquely written and recorded. Historically most of Showoff's material was helped by the guidance of incredible producers such as Mark Trombino and Marc McClusky. Conversely both 'Goodbye' and 'Blacktop' were recorded without the direct influence of a producer. More focus was exerted on the true desire of the band and the sound they found the most satisfying. Even more important than the recording process was the fact that the group made it a point to write the songs as a band. A definite change of pace to the usual routine of vocalist Chris Envy writing the majority of the music. This however, was a collaboration of everyone involved. Unfortunately just days after these songs were recorded the band took an indefinite break. Solidifying the fact that these will remain the last efforts of a very popular yet volatile band. Since forming in Villa Park, IL in 1997, Showoff has been down a sorted path of both ups and downs. The band released their 1999 self-titled debut, produced by John Feldmann (of Goldfinger) on Maverick Records and toured with the likes of Everclear, Goldfinger, Rx Bandits, Allister, Marvelous 3, The Starting Line, Lucky Boys Confusion, Further Seems Forever, Homegrown, The Bloodhound Gang and Midtown; with stints on Warped Tour 1999, 2000 and 2001. The debut LP sold over 40k and led to a 2nd LP produced by Mark Trombino (Jimmy Eat World, Finch, Creeper Lagoon) which was never released due to label ownership changes at Maverick. The band left the label in 2001/2002 with a solid follow-up album on the table that would never see the light of day. After previous attempts at reviving Showoff; Songwriter, frontman (and only original member) Chris Envy re-formed the new incarnation of the band in early 2006 and recorded their first new material in over 5 years. The Waiting For You EP was produced by Marc McClusky (Treephort, A Small Victory) and is the band's most versatile and cohesive recording to date.
