After working with several R&B, Rap, Pop, etc artist, Micaha Ajiea chronicles his earlier years of manhood dedicated to the pursuit of understanding love, which would ultimately yield his soulmate. Although most of the music was composed in his earlier years, the reviews are in, and music lovers all over the world are falling in love with the pain experienced by Micaha. Isn't it interesting how one's pain can be transformed into beauty? So you may know him better, below are excerpts from Micaha's Book of Poems, I Once Met a Woman I know because I listen. I have felt, and I understand the simplicity of understanding that which is very complex, yet so simple. Many believers in God understand something so simple. That God, is all things at all times yet we operate and maneuver through a timeless life that we have enclosed in walls of what, when, who where and why. This brings me to the point of understanding love. God is love, and love is God. Mankind, in his arrogance of self, now believes that we can somehow control love in our lives and pimp its essence. Love is complex only to those whom have not yearned to understand it more. We are all basking in a universe, which very foundation was built on love. Love is the greatest force known to man because it is of a basic concept of the foundation of God... Remember. Your vision does not happen in your eyes. What you see is not in front of you. It happens in your brain. Your heart determines the impact of information stored in the brain. Understanding something creates a very calm essence, and understanding love is no different... ..Me personally. One of my wants of God was to manifest my wife in my life. That one prayer and the actions of him answering that prayer, is what this album is about. I hope you find understanding and a sense of encouragement from these writings. God answers all prayers, even if the answer is not what we want to hear. I heard the answer to my want, and let me tell you friends... I once met a woman And the story of this want begins now For a preview of poems please visit myspace.com/MicahaAjiea Love, Micaha Ajiea Ford
