English songs, often with a novelty/humorous content in a country, folk or easy listening style. 16 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Mature, COUNTRY: Traditional Country Details: Hi there ! My name is Paul Woodhead and I am yet another singer / songwriter as well as an entertainer (ie I entertain for a living). I play keyboard, guitar, mandolin, banjolele, ukelele (ukulele), Q digital guitar, spoons, bones, harmonica and anything else that makes an easy and pleasant noise! I entertain for societies, retirement nursing homes, hospitals, pensioners groups, churches, clubs, travel companies and holiday establishments etc. I play on holiday in Tenerife and with fellow musicians have played in The Netherlands, Flanders, Normandy, Eire, Cyprus and the Isle of Man. With the George Formby Society I have regularly played at the Blackpool Winter Gardens, nightclubs, clubs, theatres and charity street busking. I hope you dip into my music like what you hear. There's all sorts here - novelty songs (fish chips, Lambretta scooters, Tonga, mid life crises, ukuleles) serious songs (terrorism, parenting, old age, terminal illness). In the middle, there are songs about love, my local steam railway, our dreams , our hopes our aspirations. I wrote all these songs except "There Was A Time" which is a poem by Mike Rafferty of Cheltenham. I arranged all the music and play it too. The next issue to cdBaby will be another original this time of Mike Rafferty poems with my arrangements performing. I have been a singer / songwriter for years but this is my first attempt to get some of it down on CD - there is lots more to come. Please give me some feedback when you have had a listen and for those who do listen - thanks. For those who buy - many thanks. Only by encouraging us "unsigned" artists will music remain fresh, new and innovative. Thanks to cdBaby for enabling artists like me to showcase their products to a worldwide audience.
