Details: Bob Williams and Wes Lupold have been writing songs together for the past 15 years. The two first met on the baseball field as little league ball players in Columbus, GA while playing for Peach Little League. Years later as college roommates, the two produced their first demo album together in 1995 while at the University of Georgia in Athens, GA. Lupold toured for five years with the band Soul Miners Daughter and later the Jennifer Nettles Band as the lead bass player. A talented musician, Lupold plays electric lead guitar, upright bass, electric bass, banjo, piano, mandolin, and accordion. Williams is a singer-songwriter from Asheville, NC who plays acoustic guitar. Williams and Lupold teamed up with Atlanta producer Charlie Chastain and drummer Brad Sikes (also from the Jennifer Nettles Band) to produce a 10-song album released in April of 2009. The debut album is titled, Whatever Im Chasin and was recorded in Georgia at a cabin on Lake Oconee near Madision, Georgia.
