Details: Beth Martens, performing as Vijaya in those days, recorded this collection of mantras, Sanskrit verses and devotional songs in India in 1999. You can feel the river Vyaas flow through each phrase and your blood as each song reveals a new dimension of saadhana, the work we came on earth to do. Her first full length CD, Living Knowledge is the culmination of the ten years she spent traveling to India, to the source of the knowledge which would bring her home again and again and again. She is grateful to her teachers, and they are many, along the way. This music is meant for singing along, for kirtan, for communicating the message of our divine origins to one another and to the Universe listening.
